

Tax and revenue solutions for local government

Experience the commitment®

Government agencies responsible for collecting funds are facing greater pressures than ever. The combination of budget constraints, rising demand for services, and changing priorities is escalating the need to maximize revenue and efficiency and improve citizen services. Achieving all of these goals requires a strategic, comprehensive approach.

PARTNERING FOR SUCCESS

CGI helps government at all levels increase revenue and service levels while reducing the cost of revenue administration by transforming revenue and debt management practices. Our consultants draw from years of experience (some as former revenue administrators) partnering with agencies around the world. As a result, we bring best practices and proven solutions for transforming all types of tax and revenue administration, including local taxes, property taxes and debt collection functions.

A STRATEGIC APPROACH

In collaboration with our clients, CGI takes a strategic approach to revenue management. Our objective is to help you improve tax administration and collections and achieve your goals for both today and tomorrow. Our proven technology investment strategies can help you reduce or eliminate the risk of obsolescence, reduce your long-term technology cost, and quickly leverage emerging technologies to generate millions of dollars in increased revenues.

INNOVATIVE DEBT COLLECTION

CGI has a long history of innovative solutions for revenue administration. Our latest innovation is a collections approach called CGI Collections360® for Government. It combines business processes, state-of-the-art technology (powered by CACS®-G) and managed services to support all aspects of debt management operations. This full-service collection capability complements existing operations to allow government to collect more delinquent debt, collect it faster, and do so at the lowest cost. In addition, the solution can be acquired without upfront capital investment.

OPPORTUNITIES TO IMPROVE EFFICIENCY, FLEXIBILITY AND AGILITY

Challenge:

Your legacy tax, billing and/or collection applications are running on an aging system or using standalone spreadsheets. The applications are increasingly expensive and difficult to maintain, are supported by a few staff who are near retirement and impossible to replace, or do not allow you to achieve the business results needed. Users cannot easily create new reports and applications are difficult to update. Making changes to comply with new requirements often requires manual processes by an already strained workforce.

Solution:

CGI can help you implement a highly configurable and tailored tax, billing and/or collection solution based on your specific needs and budget. Your organization will be able to:

- Reduce manual processes, enhance operational efficiency and realize staff time savings through greater access to modern system tools
- Improve flexibility, agility and security from web services offered as part of an integrated tax management solution
- Increase agility to comply with legislative changes quickly through easy-to-use, user-maintained configurability.
