BENEFIT FROM PREDICTABLE COSTS AND DEFER NEEDED CAPITAL TO INITIATIVES THAT IMPROVE THE BUSINESS

As a result of current economic conditions, organizations have limited capital to invest in new technologies. Yet pressures to improve efficiencies and provide better customer service continue to mount. The bottom line: organizations must do more with less. CGI's application hosting offering is the right solution to address these challenges.

Do these challenges sound familiar?

- Budgets are stagnant.
- You have limited dollars to invest in applications.
- You're facing a hiring freeze or staffing challenges and constraints, such as the challenges that come with an aging workforce.

CGI solves the challenge

CGI's hosting solutions provide predictable monthly costs and a lower total cost of ownership. Our services are tailored to your specific business challenges to best reduce your operational costs. In addition, no upfront capital is needed to realize the benefits of new technology.

The result: you have the cost savings and resources you need to adapt to economic pressures and improve customer service.

CGI's approach

CGI provides clients with a custom-tailored solution delivered by a single, accountable party. We assume day-to-day application management and operations. Our hosting services provide predictability around the risks and efforts associated with upgrading our solutions and we back the offering with specific service level agreements (SLAs). Redundancy and disaster recovery plans mitigates service disruptions and elasticity in our staffing model absorbs the peaks and valleys. The result is less risk for the same, or less, cost.

Why CGI?

- Depth of application management expertise. CGI has proven methodologies and a full depth of experience in the operation, maintenance, use and upgrade of your complete set of environments.
- Simplified pricing. CGI bundles all requisite costs associated with owning and operating our application offerings into a single, flat rate (per month/year), easing the financial risk that comes with multi-year application ownership.
- State-of-the-art data centers. CGI's data centers meet industry-leading certifications and government and security regulations and mandates.
- Economies of scale. Clients benefit from CGI's economies of scale by providing a broader base of services within and across clients.
- Long-term experience. CGI has 30+ years of experience combined with specific industry expertise, providing clients with the necessary scope, scale, stability and skills.

The cost of doing nothing

The pressure to improve performance and provide better customer service is mounting. With budget cuts and less capital available to invest in applications, the time is right to make a change.

Application hosting allows you to improve services while containing costs and reducing risks. The time to take control of your applications is now.
