CGI through the lens of our members
About the CGI photo book

At CGI, employees are called members because we are a consulting and service company owned by our owners. As owners, each member feels a personal responsibility to achieve the success of our three stakeholders: our clients, employees and shareholders. When you gather a group of people with this type of commitment, you often find that they share a common passion for more creative outlets. At CGI, this has translated into a large, global community of talented photographers.

To commemorate our 40th anniversary, we endeavored to create a CGI photo book that captures and shares this talent and portrays the spirit of the local communities in which we live and work. From the landscapes and skyscrapers we live in, to the people and passions that make up our experience and cultures, this photo book is our opportunity to showcase the diversity and richness of CGI.*

*CGI through the lens of our members shares the CGI story in and outside of the office.

contents

- Foreword
- Our landscapes
- Our people
- Our places of work
- Our environment
- Our passions

© CGI Group Inc. All rights reserved.

No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying, recording or by any information storage and retrieval system without permission in writing from CGI Medical Inc.
FOREWORD

2016 marks a significant milestone for CGI—our 40th year in business. In an industry of continuous change, CGI has served as a trusted and innovative partner to our clients. Throughout our history, we’ve dedicated ourselves to helping our clients win and grow, and, as a result, have grown into one of the leading IT and business process services companies in the world.

Our success is due in large part to the creativity and commitment of our professionals—the best in the business. In commemoration of our anniversary, and to showcase the winning attributes of our team, please accept this book, “CGI through the lens of our members,” as a token of our appreciation.

To all those with whom we have had the privilege of working, we thank you for 40 exceptional years and promise you that the best is yet to come.

Serge Godin
Founder and Executive Chairman of the Board

Michael E. Rosch
President and Chief Executive Officer
our landscapes

From our daily commutes to our travels for work or pleasure, we find inspiration in the beauty that surrounds us. "Our landscapes" is a compilation of photographs that demonstrates the rich diversity of our member's experience.
Michael Schilling, Melbourne, Australia
For photographer Michael Schilling, this image serves as a reminder to look at the world around you with a new perspective. What you see is a Wald—because you may not have been in an interesting perspective.

Russin Wen, Sydney, Australia
Russin Wen took this photo in Kowloon, the neighborhood of Hong Kong, where the old houses have been renovated and converted into homes. The photo is a reflection of life in a small apartment in the heart of the city, with the reflection of the water adding their reflection to the water one by one.

Lee Chun, Birmingham, UK
Lee Chun took this photo in Manchester, UK, where he discovered a beautiful reflection in the water, creating an interesting perspective.

Jenni Druchkov, Melbourne, Australia
Through photography, Jenni has learned that there are small but meaningful moments every day, and this photograph was taken as part of a project where she aimed to capture a moment each day for a year to document their lives.
Our landscapes

10

Shrinivasa Shrotra, Mumbai, India
This image was captured on the Mumbal-Pune expressway highway at around 2:30 a.m. It is one of the busiest—and most beautiful—highways in India.

Mohin Kunan, Bangalore, India
This CGI cat plays an important role in the work life of most CGI members in Bangalore. Mahin's place is a thanks you get for 10% of transportation department and plants.
our landscapes

Car Neilson, Toronto, Ontario
During the annual Bata Shoe Modern/Contemporary Artrawl in Toronto, the city is transformed by light and signs. The most addictive view that one edition. Contact Neilson captures people at the event walking through Toronto's waterfront.

Ronell Lenaeattle, Montreal, Canada
Ronell took this photo of the majestic landscape of downtown Montreal from the Old Port of Montreal, which is surrounded by the downtown buildings.
Romanée-Conti, Côte d’Or, Burgundy, France

The vineyards are a landmark of “rustic gardens” in the heart of the city of Avignon. A short distance from the Château de la Romanée-Conti, these gardens are a perfect place for GQ inspectors who will be able to walk on a path that leads to the gardens.

Peter Huang, Boccon, Canada

This is where the town of La Baie, Quebec, is home to one of the largest ice fishing villages. The village opens once the city gives the “all clear,” a call suggesting the ice has reached the required degree of firmness.

Eric Bildel, Amstel, Netherlands

Sheep are regular visitors to the parking lot at the GQ office in Amstel. Eric notes that the animals seem curious at first, but do no more than stand there and watch the sheep remain in a group.
Michael Goldberg, Victoria, Australia
Gorleston Dock in Roberton, Australia is a peaceful place that some Australian members like to go to because it is very different than the fast-paced, drive-by style of Sydney's Circular Quay.

Michael makes it a point to visit Flinders Street Station whenever he is in Melbourne, Australia because he loves to watch the world pass by in all directions. He observes that when it rains, people move at a much faster pace, yet this photo shows a serene view of the station.

Fredrik Månes, Malmö, Sweden
Each day on his way to work, Fredrik enjoys passing by the “new old town” of Malmö. He appreciated how new buildings are designed to resemble the town's old architecture styles.
Guy Rush, New York, United States

Every time I visit New York, I am struck by the city's skyline. As a child, I would often stand on the rooftop of our apartment building and look out over the city, imagining myself flying among the skyscrapers. Today, I take my photograph from a different perspective, capturing the beauty of the city from a distance.

Manfred Schumann, Paris, France

This photo of a beautiful French display was taken on the 14th of July. The fireworks were a wonderful way to celebrate Bastille Day.
The bridge is the second built on the spot where Alfred Eerens, contact the River Nevil in spirit as part of Oosterse Waterleid. The operation was done during 1963. Beneath the city of Rotterdam, the bridge was built in 1963. During the operation, the bridge’s 48 pairs of steel plates light up one after another every eight seconds, creating the: From dusk to night.

Brian Pahl, Spire, Portugal

Crossed by the Vasco da Gama Bridge, in Lisbon, each day, an early morning walk is delightful. Occasionally, the bridge is the only way to travel to the south of the bridge, which is the longest bridge in Europe.

Fredrik Madsen, Denmark

The Øresund Bridge connects Sweden and Denmark, and serves as an international symbol of trade and community. Fredrik’s approach to the design was the color of the bridge, especially during a sunset.
our people

The "our peoples" collection of photographs capture the spirit of CGI members as they engage in CGI-sponsored activities, such as community service events, as well as in their own personal adventures.

Maciej Kamas, Gurgaon, India

Maciej Kamas is a CGI executive based in India. This picture shows Maciej jumping from one rock to another, reflecting on the moment. The image is reminiscent of the saying "taking a leap of faith," and the importance of approaching challenges with full faith in one's knowledge and skills.

Guilherme Brito, Montevideo, Uruguay

Guilherme Brito, a CGI executive based in Uruguay, is shown taking a selfie. The image captures the spirit of the fun event.

Dilawar Ramzan, Manila, Philippines

Every year thousands of members around the world participate in CGI's Walk Around the World event. This year, Dilawar Ramzan joined the event in Manila, capturing the moment and expressing his enthusiasm for the event.

Lakshmanan Dhakam, Singapore, India

The image captures a CGI team in Singapore, with a lighthouse in the background. It is a reminder of the importance of focus and determination.

Alexander Øygard, Stavanger, Norway

This image captures a CGI team in Stavanger, Norway, with a plane in the background. The image serves as a reminder of the importance of teamwork and collaboration.

Raja Babu Rama, Bangalore, India

This photograph was taken in the reception area of the Bangalore office where members gathered for a team-building event. The image captures the excitement and fun of the event.
our people

Sylvain Fréville, MONTREAL, CANADA
In his free time, Sylvain races as a weekend cyclist and seeks to compete in triathlons of varying distances. This photo shows his take-up point in the 2018 Montreal competition in 2018.

Raju Nathar Dorghia, Bangalore, India
This is a photograph of the Cal Surf Club in the Bangalore office. Raju says that many members enjoy participating in social activities organized by clubs and that the club and its members create a Club "to create an environment in which we enjoy working together and, as careers, continue to build a company we can be proud of."
Our people

Rose Nagyich Griffin,
Chicago, United States

Chicago, Illinois, where you can participate in the annual ‘Walk Around the World’ and be part of a fun group and see the heart of the downtown area of the city.

Gabrielle Bogden,
Montreal, Canada

2013 marked CGI’s first national ‘American Dream Week’. The picture shows a group of employees in the background as members of Montreal gathered to participate in this event, which took place on the same day in CGI locations around the world. This week-long event is a unique opportunity to promote career diversity and networking with fellow colleagues.

Taly Almeida

I caught this image of my colleagues involved with a project. We took the pic to celebrate the success of the team and our clients.

Rashmi Bhatia Dasika

Rashmi works in the Bangalore office in CGI India and is currently working on a project which is national in scope and part of one of the world’s most cutting-edge healthcare systems. Members of the office are often asked to “Design in India” on their own projects. This photo was taken in the Delhi head office.

Raj Kumar Raman

Raj Kumar Raman, the Bengaluru office in Bangalore, India and other offices in India, is working on a project which is national in scope and forms part of one of the world’s most cutting-edge healthcare systems. Members of the office are often asked to “Design in India” on their own projects. This photo was taken in the Delhi head office.
our places of work

This collection of photographs highlights scenes from our work environment. “Our places of work” showcases our daily interactions with one another and our clients, including the buildings we occupy and the interior workspaces that enable team collaboration and individual concentration.
our environment

The diversity of our members is reflected by the diversity of the varied locations in which we work and live. “our environment” captures a compendium of photographs that showcase the richness and vastness of the environment that surrounds and shapes us.

Bella Meng, Mackham, Canada

The image was taken by Bella Meng, a resident of Mackham, Ontario’s northern frontier. To about Bella’s artistic talent and subject of the image, the camera was set to focus on the girl’s face and small plane in the background, which are captured with a delicate green, brown, and white.

Philippine Birk, Lyon, France

Philippines are known for their beautiful landscapes that nature offers us. Frequently visited annually by a beloved family, the pool is one of the finest features and represents leisurely and enjoyable.

Sophie Lai, Higher, United States

Sophie was inspired after participating in her first World Around the World event, and now makes an effort to frequently work outside the office during lunchtime when the weather is nice. During one of these visits, she discovered a small pond outside the office and took this picture—which shows the brilliant colors of fall.
Philine Arp, Zürich, Switzerland

Philine finds great pleasure in walking, visiting natural landscapes and watching birds. She also enjoys natural landscapes in paintings. Her interest led her to study art in Hannover, where she tried painting and drawing. She now combines her love for art with her love for nature.

Pascal Millon, Lausanne, Switzerland

Pascal loves observing the treasures of nature and capturing them in his work. His landscape paintings are of places he has visited and he enjoys sharing his love for nature through his art.

Jean-François Pogg, Leysin, Switzerland

Jean-François’ photography is a family affair. This picture is the result of a collaborative effort andBeautiful Butterflies. It is the first time he has captured a butterfly because capturing a living creature is a challenging and exciting pursuit.

Nawan Guttik, Delhi, India

Nawan loves nature and the beauty offered by Canada’s four distinct seasons. This photo, taken in September, captures the striking colors of a wood duck striking against the backdrop of the river.

Renee Guttik, Delhi, India

Renee enjoys nature and the beauty offered by Canada’s four distinct seasons. This photo, taken in September, captures the striking colors of a wood duck striking against the backdrop of the river.
our environment

Pår Eklund, Borlänge, Sweden
This spectacular picture of the Aurora Borlänge was taken just before midnight on a chilly early morning. The sight also graced the Arctic Circle scramble Pår, he always longs to share the awe-inspiring endless light sparkling across the sky.

Michelacci, Australia
This summer, my partner and I went toycling in Cape Town as part of the annual "21st Birthday Cruise." This was the perfect location to celebrate, the perfect balance of land and sea.

Paul Williams, Maresi, Sweden
Fishing boats, windmills, and the iconic bridge at dusk. These picturesque scenes of Maresi, Sweden, perfectly capture the beauty of the region.

Fredrik Nilsson, Maresi, Sweden
Fresh blue swirls and tracks that can be disturbing in typical. However, here in this serene, we can feel the true beauty of the world, by being alone and made work together to create beauty.
Maria Murphy, Lindöping, Sweden

Maria Murphy is a nature lover, capturing her world through her lens. This image showcases the beauty of ice formations. She notes that the formation will gradually change as it is shaped by the wind and the sun during the day and freezing temperatures at night.

Maria's artistic work is a blend of photography and nature, capturing the natural world in all its glory.

Dan Bergström, Lindöping, Sweden

Dan Bergström focuses on capturing the beauty of ice formations on the bridge at Lindöping. The scene is a testament to the power of nature, highlighting the delicate balance between the elements.

Through his photography, Dan shares the wonder of the natural world, offering a glimpse into the beauty that surrounds us every day.
Our Environment

Shannon Harbour, Ireland

This is a photograph of a lighthouse that was constructed in the 18th century. Captain Scott's raft was washed up in Shannon Harbour in 1911. The Shannon Harbour is an iconic image for those living in South Wales.

Joel Crocker, Photographer, Editorial

The lighthouse is a symbol of the connection between the land and the sea. It is a vantage point for those who wish to see beyond the horizon. The lighthouse is a beacon of hope and guidance.
Sandrine Xiao, Stavros, Greece
"Goats proving that nature has a sense of humor too. "

Brian Clark, Stavros, Greece
A cruise ship passes through the impressive Stavros Monument, a monument to the explorer, navigator and statesman, in the port of Piraeus, Athens. The monument was designed by sculptor Konstantinos Zoumboulis and inaugurated in 1991."
our environment

Jansen Wijers, Feestkort, Netherlands
Armedged beach with nets 15 minutes drive from the city. At the edge of Aoife—this shorehard area for two centuries. When Jansen's sons in the area, he could not forget being a picture from the same spot they had fascinated and inspired parents for more than 30 years.

Finnish seaside, Helsinki, Finland
Nearby coastal village, Helsinki is a place where the landscape and the sea encounter. It is a place where people can enjoy the beauty of the nature and the sea.

Skåneudde: Hortop, Italy
This image was taken by the author while on a Saturday morning trip near Hortop. The beach was empty and the landscape was serene, creating a peaceful and calming atmosphere. The colors of the sky and the sea create a beautiful contrast.
our environment

Fredrik Nilsson, Malmo, Sweden

White swans glide, pricked eerily, gently folding wings, with a content, for love. Snow is on farther line in distant view, adapting trees and snags to children.
our passions

We are a company of members who have vast talents and interests. The "our passions" compilation of photographs demonstrates the rich diversity of talent our members bring to all of our client engagements.

Sharon Harvey, Fulham, United Kingdom

While we marvel at the show, look below and above and behind every expert walking the Royal Air Force Aerobatic Team. They put on amazing shows all over Britain, with their own performance team and support crew.

Jean-François Paje, Montreal, Canada

Jean-François plays the French horn in the Harmonie Académie. He leads and persuades centaurs for music movements. This photo shows a horn player with the advanced Harmonie Academy ensemble and impressive Jean-François design. He was driven by the French horn in an advanced orchestra.

Colin Bernhardt, Quebec City, Canada

This photo was taken during Colin’s serve for Church® Humane. Inhabitants in Joba, Burkina Faso, enjoy the day as the horse hits the tracks. In his work, he would meet many animals and many of animals, including goats, chickens and pigs.
our passions

Mark van der Mark, Arizona, USA

A large part of Utah’s home country is below sea level. Mark was impressed to find out that one of the road signs points at the point of the earth’s lowest point. How can you have home without this sign in the photograph, but feel a connection to the location based on its unique topography?

Brenna Lonasdale, Vernon, Canada

Through the edge, you can see a hint of London. This black and white photo is the result of a combination of old black and white photos and the surrounding red telephone booths, creating an intriguing effect.

Wendy Rainbold, Morden, Canada

Rendy was a self-described “fair weather cyclist” until 2010, when she started cycling in common to train for the ride to Chile. With this coat, she could withstand the weather and the elements, even in the driest of conditions, with the nudity of the road, just as the autumn essence was reaching its peak.

Cindy Kloc, Toronto, Canada

Cindy traveled to Catavina, Mexico, where she captured this photograph of the desert. Now, you can see the change of the image may be seen on page 58.
Robert Karam, Montreal, Canada

Robert combines his passion for airplanes and photography. This photograph was taken at the Montreal Pierre Elliott Trudeau International Airport, capturing just the right mix of a sunset, sunray and his "plane spotting" companions.

On a warm afternoon on the "havens" of Montreal for Easterners, Robert gets a friendly wave from the pilot of this magnificent flying machine.
CGI was founded in 1976 with the objective of helping clients through quality and innovative services. Today, we are one of the largest IT and business process services companies in the world, providing business consulting, systems integration and managed services that help clients achieve top-to-bottom line results. As we commemorate our 40th anniversary, this photo book serves as a reminder of the journey we’ve taken to build a culturally and geographically diverse company, serving clients in their communities around the world. It also serves as inspiration for the road ahead. Our 40th anniversary marks both a milestone and a beginning—the best is yet to come.

Contact us at info@cgi.com.