

CGI Trade360 Portal

Seamless customer experience, anywhere in the world

When your customer says, "I want my bank to provide consistent service, regardless of where I do business with the bank," ...

CGI Trade360 offers a common global platform that is configurable to meet local standards, while maintaining bank-wide prescribed standards of service, along with a fully synchronized portal that delivers a robust and seamless customer experience.

When the bank needs to enhance customer service...

CGI Trade360 Portal, along with CGI Trade360 customer service center capabilities, enable banks to create a seamless, global bank-branded experience, encompassing traditional trade, payables, receivables and cash management. Banks also benefit from real-time transaction processing and reporting, complete with industry-leading service-level agreements.

Customer service for many corporate banking customers can be as fragmented as the underlying systems and technology supporting it. More than ever, banks need to serve their customers seamlessly across the globe and be able to constantly deliver new services to meet rapidly changing customer needs.

CGI Trade360 Portal is a secure, intuitive web-based tool that seamlessly connects a bank's corporate customers to robust capabilities for transaction processing, workflows, imaging, reporting and channel integration. It enables banks to create the required bank-branded customer experience across all products and geographies

CGI Trade360 Portal is part of the CGI Trade360 global transaction platform. The platform enables banks to run their global trade business as a single instance for all locations and to offer a robust trade service portfolio, including traditional trade, payables, receivables and cash management.
