

ProductWriter Services

The ability to implement changes to your ProductWriter products and ratings is a business critical function. We can help.

In summary

We understand that it is necessary to turn around rate and terms changes quickly and accurately, and if underwriters are changing multiple products at once, it can place your internal teams under immense pressure. Through our ProductWriter Centre of Excellence we can provide resources to undertake insurer Productwriter work, whether for a contracted period or for ad hoc work (such as monthly changes to act as a buffer when those load peaks arrive).

Through our dedicated Rating Services Team (RST), we are able to provide a fully managed service for maintaining insurance products, either as an extension to your in-house team or as a totally managed service.

Our RST is experienced in every class of business and has engineered hundreds of products on multiple rating technologies. With such a wealth of experience, you can be assured that we can provide an efficient and cost effective service for the maintenance and development of insurance products.
